FACULTY

SUPERINTENDENT

Carl R. Batchelder

To The Class of 1997,

You are in the midst of a special time in your life. Your plans for the future are becoming a reality, and the years you have spent in Woburn are becoming part of your history. As you look through the pages of memories and accomplishments unfolding before your eyes, you are presented with a yearbook that is finally and distinctively yours.

The spirit and commitment of this closely knit place that you call "home" and the hallowed halls of a building that you call "school" have been captured in photographs and commentaries that you should always recall as being Woburn. The pride of this community and the unity that it encourages have played an integral part in helping to develop and shape your growth. Perhaps you will come to truly realize this as you leave this place of your beginnings.

As your Superintendent of Schools, I have been impressed with the opportunities that this city has provided you in order to send you forth to meet the challenges beyond your high school experience. It is my hope that you will reflect upon your years in Woburn with appreciation, pride, and commitment, for these are qualities that have been extended to you from all of us. You deserve my sincerest congratulations and my best wishes for the future.

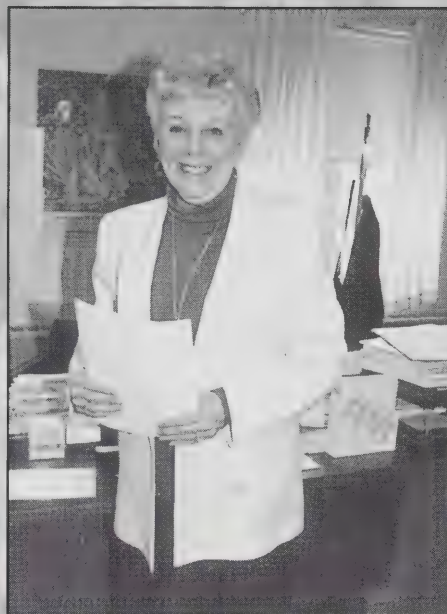

Sincerely,

Carl R. Batchelder

PRINCIPAL

To the members of the Class of 1997:

In this time in our lives there is deep concern about the education and values of our young people. So often the newspapers, radio, and television trumpet some new survey which chronicles the failure of our youngsters to measure up to those who have gone before or to students in other countries.

History demonstrates clearly that this has always been so. "Our youth now have luxury; they have bad manners, contempt for authority; they show disrespect for their elders and love chatter in the place of exercise. Children are now tyrants, not servants of the household. They contradict their parents, chatter before company, gobble up their food, and tyrannize their teachers." These are the words of Socrates the great Greek philosopher of the fifth century B.C. How many times have we heard these words paraphrased in our own day.

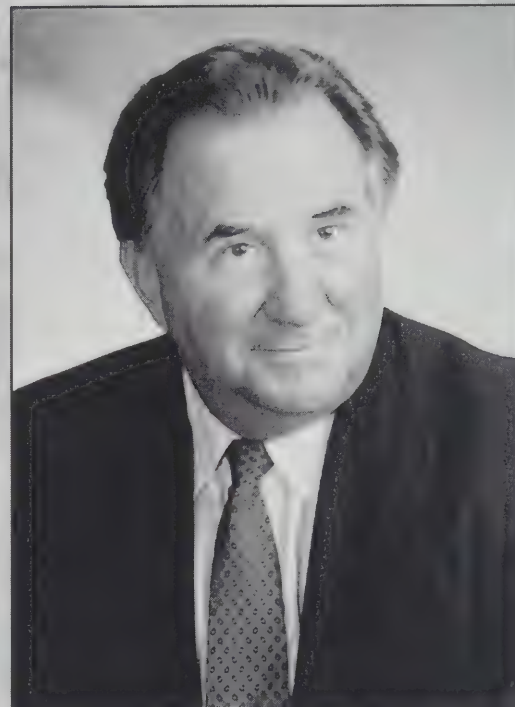

This is one of the finest group of students to graduate from Woburn High School. As a body you represent outstanding academic achievement, inquisitive intellect, positive behavior and an extraordinary commitment to public service. May that service continue to be a driving force in all of your lives. A commitment of citizenship helps make communities better. The most honorable of activities is to give of yourself toward the well being of others.

We hope for your success as you embark on the next phase of your lives. We are proud of you and wish you well.

Sincerely,

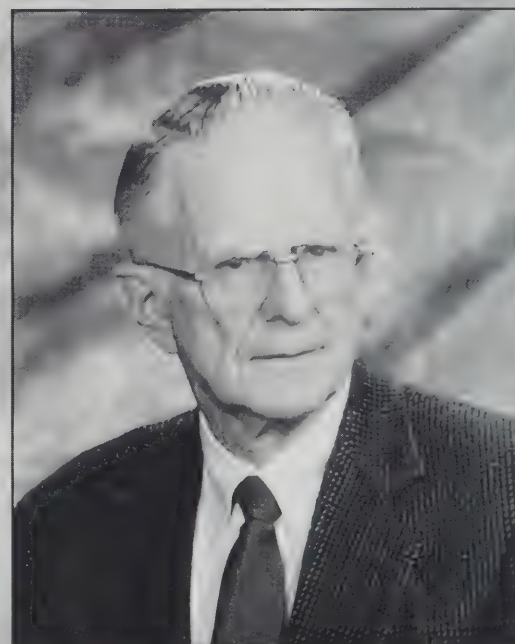

Robert C. Norton
Principal
